INVASIVE MILFOIL IN CHIPPEWA LAKE

Jim Spetz, Medina County Park Naturalist, said Eurasian Watermilfoil is growing in Chippewa Lake but it can be removed manually. Milfoil is the fern-like plant growing near our docks and visible in shallow water.

Just be careful to remove it completely from the lake. If you pull out the plant, try to remove the root (in the lake bottom) as well. The plant self-fragments and pieces of milfoil break off the parent plant and re-root nearby. When you clean your propellers, bring the milfoil back to land. DO NOT THROW ANY MILFOIL BACK IN THE LAKE. It is safe to put on land or in a garden where it will not be swept back into the lake.

If you are a boater try not to drive through these floating milfoil mats. Check and clean your prop every time you leave your dock. Eurasian watermilfoil will foul engine props and jet skis (immediately). Swimmers should also avoid trying to swim through this floating plant as well.
